

San Bernardino

Directions:

Take the 57 or 15 Fwy North to the 10 Fwy East to Redlands and take the University, turn left (N). Turn right onto Lugonia (Hwy 38) and go East about 7 miles to the Mill Creek Ranger Station and take the left fork (Hwy 38) and continue about 10 miles to Angelus Oaks and turn right to the San Bernardino Trail Head. A Forest Service Adventure Pass must be displayed. Use the Big Bear Lake topo for this area.

The trail starts out through a forest of Jeffery and Sugar pines, White Fir and a few Oak Trees. In 2 miles you reach the San Gorgonio Wilderness boundary sign. As the switchbacks taper off you go through a Manzanita meadow. At about 8000 feet you and 4 miles from the start you reach a junction for Columbine Springs trail camp(water usually is gone by late June here). The trail continues upward another 2 miles to Limber Pines Trail camp(water is about 1/4 mile on the trail past the camp). Enjoy the panoramic views from here. This is the last water on the trail. Follow the switchback trail upward on the northern face of San Bernardino Peak. In 1 1/2 miles you reach the historical Washington Monument. Walking along the ridge for another 1/2 mile you reach the San Bernardino Peak summit (10,624 feet). Enjoy the view and sign your name in the register box.

This hike meets the requirements for the following High Adventure Awards:

- Training Hike
- Hardback Award
- San Bernardino Award

MODERATE

